The candle arch Christmas forest with advents house is a lovely masterpiece of the typical handicraft that the German Ore Mountain region is famous for. The electric candles are covered by beautifully carved little lanterns, which spread a homely light. The motives of the lanterns are traditional German christmas motives. The center of the arch is a small 3-tier pyramid, shaped like an advent house. It is also run electrically and creates a cozy atmosphere with its slow, steady movement. The pyramid is surrounded by a forest scenery with hand carved figures: Santa is preparing for the big day, one little fellow is fetching the Christmas tree while others simply enjoy the snow on ski and sleighs. This candle arch expresses anticipation about Christmas coming closer and will beautify your house for generations to come. It is of course an authentic Ore mountain item, with the high quality that Richard Glässer products are known for.
